Radio "Hams" Aid Eye Banks . . .

It's Strictly a Labor of Love

RICHMOND - The Amateur "Ham" Radio Operators, one of the country's great volunteer organizations and among the first to go into action whenever disaster strikes, is also one that has never hesitated to respond to the often emergency communications need of the members of the Eye Bank Association of America, by providing them with a daily direct nationwide radio link with each other.

One of those who relies on this voluntary radio network facility is the Old Dominion Eye Bank and Research of Richmond, a Lions sponsored non-profit charitable organization, whose function is the solicitation, collection, and distribution of human eye tissue provided by donors on death for sight-restoring corneal transplants.

The "Eye Bank Emergency Radio Net," as it is commonly known, consists of dedicated amateur radio operators scattered all over the country who have banded together to relay information twice a day on the supply, and availability of eye tissue in the eye bank the represent. "It's strictly a labor of love," they say.

The network was started in Iowa City, Iowa in 1962 by two radio amateurs, one a physician. Both were interested in the work of the coordinated efforts of the Old Dominion Eye Bank, the Lions Clubs of Virginia, and the voluntary radio communications facilities of the amateur "ham" radio operators.

The "Eye Bank Emergency Radio Net" goes on the air twice daily, at 7 a.m. and 8 p.m., on the 3970 kc shortwave frequency to answer the eye bank roll call and exchange sometimes vital emergency information concerning availabie eye tissue. Yes - - "it's strictly a labor of love," they say.

the first time that I've seen this turf grass disease in Appomattox County. This disease is found on bent grass, bluegrass, tall fescue and ryegrass.

It's generally thought that this disease is seed-borne but can be transmitted on foot or with a lawn mower.

A satisfactory chemical control program has not been developed. The current recommendation costs $3.00 per 1,000 square feet.

Infected grass has long yellow streaks. The darker area erupts with black spore material. If your grass does not grow off properly, this disease is a suspect.

There's a lot of curled dock in fields that will be going in corn this year. This is a difficult weed to control. Why not try spot spraying at the rate of .5 pound or one pint of dicamba. Be sure; wait one week, disc and plant to corn. Later if it's still not completely dead spray with a combination of one pint 2, 4-D + one half pint dicamba, as a post-emergency treatment.

1976-Crop Wheat Allotment Proclaimed

A 1976-crop wheat allotment of 61.6 million acres has been proclaimed by Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz. The allotment for the 1975 crop was 53.5 million acres.

The national allotment does not represent a limit on the amount of wheat that may be planted. Rather, it is used solely as a basis for making payment to wheat growers should the market price for wheat fall below the established target price or if growers qualify for disaster payments. Under these two programs, growers are eligible for payments only on alloted acres.

The 1976 allotted acres will be apportioned among states, counties and individual producers generally on the basis of the apportionment for the 1975-crop year.

Legislation requires that by April 15 of each year, the Secretary of Agriculture must proclaim a national wheat acreage allotment for the crop to be harvested in the next calendar year. The national allotment represents the number of harvested acres of wheat, based on the estimated national average yield, needed to produce the quantity of wheat (minus imports) that will be utilized domestically and exported during the 1976-77 marketing year.

The 1976 national allotment is computed on the basis of an estimated national yield of 33.1 bushels per acre and estimated total utilization (less imports) for the 1976-77 marketing year of 2,040 million bushels. Domestic use is projected at 841 million bushels, exports at 1,200 million bushels and imports at 1 million bushels.

The 8.1 million acre increase in the 1976 allotment compared to the 1975 allotment is primarily due to a substantial improvement in the export outlook since the 1975 allotment was established a year ago. At that time, total wheat utilization for 1975-76 was expected to be about 1,750 million bushels (including 950 million for export) whereas currently the estimate for 1975-76 is about 1,930 million bushels of which some 1,125 million bushels is projected for export.

Other provisions of the 1976 wheat program will be announced later.
